Sharing the same designer, luxury boutique hotels Pavillon de la Reine and Le Pavillon des Lettres are fabulously positioned. Full of charm, the sisters exude elegance and modernity with all the service of a grand palace - and the understated sophistication of a private home.

Pavillon des Lettres

A new addition to the Parisian hotel scene, Le Pavillon des Lettres just off the Faubourg St Honoré in the 8th arrondissement, pays homage to literature with each of its 26 rooms representing a letter of the alphabet and dedicated to a writer. What's more, technology lives alongside the classics - every guestroom and suite has an iPad which replaces the traditional room directory. And with its new terrace, Pavillon des Lettres is all set for extending the summer loving into Autumn.

Best places to kiss in Paris...toujours l'amour

What do Vanessa Paradis, Johnny Depp, Audrey Tautou and The Aristocats have in common? All have been spotted in the streets of Paris, walking hand in hand (or paw in paw) along the quais of the Seine, sharing a Bertillon ice cream on the Ile St Louis, or stealing a kiss by the Sacré Coeur. It must be something in the Parisian air which has inspired centuries of romantic novels, paintings, photographs and films.....

Now Pavillon des Lettres is helping its guests continue this romantic tradition with its new Belles Lettres break which, as well as an overnight stay, breakfast and a bottle of champagne, includes tickets for two to the glorious Grand Palais Museum and a copy of "The best Places to Kiss in Paris"... to ensure you make the most of your time in the City of Lights. Belles Lettres is priced at €420 per room per night (minimum stay of 2 nights) based on two people sharing a room.

Pavillon de la Reine

Pavillon de la Reine is the only luxury hotel on the beautiful and romantic Place des Vosges, deep in the historic Marais. The hotel dates back to the 17th century, covered in greenery and set back and hidden away from the galleries and cafés of the Place des Vosges by a private courtyard garden which has been restyled just in time for summer. After a makeover by interior designer Didier Benderli this gorgeous boutique hotel combines contemporary style with genuine history and atmosphere.

Brush up your Français

It's a well known fact that making an attempt at the local lingo will get you further in Paris – and there's no excuse, when you don't even need to leave your hotel to do so.

Pavillon de la Reine comes to the rescue with "Learn How to Speak French" an overnight break which includes breakfast, 20 minutes of French instruction daily, and a French-English dictionary which makes polishing your "Fr-Englais" a pleasurable experience. Based on two people sharing a double/twin room - rates from €350 per night.
